1. As a developer, I want to search projects based on keywords, so that I can find a project that fits my needs.
2. As a project owner, I want to create a project posting where I can describe the project description and requirements for developers, so that I can find a developer that fits the needs of my project.
3. As a developer, I want to have a profile where I can display my work experience, education, and skills, so that project owners know I am qualified for their project.
4. As a project owner, I want to have a profile where I can display a description of myself, my goals, and what I look for in a developer, so that developers can determine whether or not they are a good fit to work with me.
5. As a project owner, I want to compare my project's applicants with each other, so that I pick the right one for my project.
6. As a developer, I want to send private messages to project owners, so that I can ask questions about the project.
7. As a project owner, I want to rate my developer's communication, time management, and end product quality, so that future project owners know how well the developer met these criteria.
8. As a developer, I want to leave a written review of my project owner, so that future developers know how I felt about this project owner.
9. As a project owner, I want to set a schedule for my project, so that prospective developers can decide whether they could meet the deadlines of the project.
10. As a developer, I want to set the status of a project to planning, blocked, testing, complete, or abandoned, so that the project owner knows the current state of the project.
11. As a project owner, I want to update my project's schedule and requirements throughout the duration of the project, so that developers have access to the latest information on the project.
12. As a project owner, I want to mark a completed project as private, so that personal details of me or my business are not displayed on developer profiles.
